BE PART OF IT

We're building a network - we've been doing so since 1971. It means working with the people and organisations that care enough and want to get things done.

We have powerful relationships with an amazing range of allies and supporters - from our own backyard to the international stage.

People like us include politicians from all parties, businesses, arts organisations, the media, charities, coalitions and campaign groups linking up with local communities everywhere.

Each partnership, every act of support, the smallest step builds the momentum for a healthier planet.

We're an open inclusive and non-party political ready to work with all whom share our hopes and fears.

Join Havant Friends of the Earth

Friends of the Earth (FOE) aim to influence policy and practice locally, nationally and internationally through an honest, accurate and open approach. We do this by:

- Working local to global from our 200+ local groups to 70+ Friends of the Earth international groups – we are the only local – global environmental campaign group.
- Solutions based research
We don't just look for problems – we find credible alternatives.
- Enabling campaigning
We provide information and tools so people like you can act together.

By joining your local Friends of the Earth group you can play a key role in transforming the local environment and you can also campaign on important global issues such as climate change, pollution and threats to local habitats.

About Us

Havant Friends of the Earth is part of a network of 8 FOE groups in Hampshire and 200 across the country. Havant Friends of the Earth campaigns on local and national environmental issues that affect the Borough of Havant and East Hampshire.

What issues does the group campaign on

Since becoming a group in 2002 Havant FOE has worked closely with local residents, voluntary green groups, NGO's and statutory bodies help promote a healthier and natural and built environment throughout Havant.

Some recent successes

- Successfully opposed unsustainable green field developments in Havant
- Lobbied politicians for greener policies local and national
- Campaigned for greener energy in Hampshire and West Sussex
- Organised with partners for Havant's first ever Green Week – Havant Goes Greener

What can I do?

There are many ways in which one person can make a difference. Examples include writing letters and articles to the papers, joining recycling schemes, visiting schools and colleges, joining street events to publicise specific campaigns and helping to raise money.

How much time will it take?

Most people have more than enough to do nowadays. Havant FOE meets quarterly for a couple of hours in central Havant/Emsworth to discuss local issues and plan events. We also try to support local fairs etc to distribute leaflets and encourage new members.

Why should I join FOE?

That you are reading this leaflet suggests you care about the future of our planet. The threats to our future survival have never been more serious. There can be nothing more important than our only home in the universe and yet millions choose to ignore the realities of global warming and disappearing species. By joining FOE you are teaming up with one of the most effective campaigning bodies in the world.

How much does it cost?
